

When You Call

Words & Music: Ruth Elaine Schram

Waiting in the stillness as I open my heart to You, waiting in the stillness, wond'ring what You would have me do, will I recognise that still, small voice when it speaks my name?
Will I know You when You call? Will I hear Your voice at all?

When You speak, Lord, I will listen. When You call me, I will hear.
I am Yours, Lord, and I pray nothing earthly interferes.
Where You lead me, I will follow. Where You send me, I will go.
I am Yours, Lord, I am Yours.

Speak, Lord, in the stillness as I open my heart to You.
Speak, Lord, in the stillness, show me what You would have me do,
I will recognise that still, small voice when it speaks my name.
I will know You when You call.
I will know You when You call, when You call.

When You speak, Lord, I will listen. When You call me, I will hear.
I am Yours, Lord, and I pray nothing earthly interferes,
Where You lead me, I will follow, Where You send me, I will go.
I am Yours, Lord, I am Yours. I will know You when You call.
